

MADE TO MEASURE
HEALTH CARE

A Summary of the Willow System Practitioner Training

The Willow System can be learned effectively by anybody:

- New healing facilitators
wishing to tap into their natural healing abilities
- Body workers and professional healing facilitators
who want to expand their healing gifts
- Healthcare practitioners, counselors and mental health practitioners

The Willow System provides you with counseling techniques to discern where to focus the client's session and teaches skills such as kinesiology, hands on body alignment, energetic and emotional balancing and an alternative family system approach.

The Willow System can be integrated into techniques you already have and enable you to work on a broad spectrum of symptoms and problems while tailoring each session to the specific needs of your clients.

Course Description:

The Willow System Practitioner Training is an intensive five level program. Each level consists of 6 days training that include both hands on and counseling techniques. Each of the five levels must be completed before the next can be taken.

We also offer free extensive personal online and telephone support.

Course Information:

The Willow System Practitioner Training aims to help participants increase their effectiveness in tailoring individual sessions for the benefit of their clients.

The course will enable participants to:

- Assess the client's resources in a very short period of time and to show to use them to their advantage
- Break through dysfunctional patterns on a physical, emotional, mental and spiritual level
- stay neutral and absolutely focused
- use the muscle ring test to train one's own intuition, evaluate the root cause of a client's problem and assess the optimal steps towards a solution
- use the Willow System manuals to access information locked in the subconscious
- integrate solutions found into the client's physical body relieving stress reflexes in the nervous, postural, limbic and hormone systems
- diagnose negative dynamics in the family system, address issues of trauma, injustice, persecution, abuse, unconscious identification with other family members, eating disorders and suicidal tendencies
- diagnose disruption in the meridians, chakras and the morphogenetic fields, to find problems that are not yet manifested on a physical level, healing problems at their deepest roots
- improve the client's self healing by finding sabotage programs and healing blockages
- work with an open mind, always be curious and creative

The Willow System Practitioner works hand in hand with the client's inner healer and follows problems to their root causes, thereby creating space for healing and empowering the client to take the first steps forward towards fostering a healthier and more effective life.

A Summary of the Willow System Practitioner Training

Course Costs:

The Willow System Practitioner Training for the USA and Canada is in five stages where each stage consists of 6 days training at a cost of $900.

For early bird and other discounts please see our general terms and conditions.

For More information or any additional questions you may have, please feel free to contact Rita Harrison by:

Telephone on +1 (808) 212 0919 or Email: info@willowsystem.com